- Once you have submitted your curriculum for approval, it is sent to the faculty's international office (RIO). The status of your curriculum changes from 'draft' to 'proposal' and you cannot edit it yourself anymore. RIO will check your curriculum (together with - if applicable - your 'Learning Agreement changes' and the 'approval of lecturer' document(s)) and either approve it, or return it to you and ask you to change it. This could take up to a few weeks.
- You will be informed via your UGent email address whether your curriculum has been approved or refused, so check your UGent emails regularly.
- When you receive an e-mail (automatic e-mail from Oasis) that the faculty has approved your curriculum, you have to accept your curriculum. This is done by clicking on the button 'Accept curriculum'.

The screenshot shows the OASIS interface for a student. At the top, it says 'OASIS' and 'Bachelor/Biologie Student'. Below that, it says 'STUDENT' and 'Enrollment's 2023-2024'. There are instructions on how to submit a curriculum and a list of possible actions: 'Submit for approval', 'Accept curriculum' (circled in red), 'Print curriculum', 'Print document of submission', and 'Self reflective report'. Below this is a table with columns: 'Student No.', 'Student', 'Main subject code', 'Status', and 'Actions'. The table contains one row with a checked checkbox in the first column, '1152' in the second, 'Bachelor/Biologie Student' in the third, 'CBIOU - Bachelor of Science in Biology' in the fourth, and 'Approved' in the fifth. The 'Actions' column for this row contains a link 'History Curriculum'.
