MISSION

IRIS (International Research Institute on Social Fraud) is a network of expertise and a knowledge centre around social fraud and social dumping where practice and theory meet and inspire each other.

TOPICS

Social fraud and social dumping are both a national as well as international large-scale problem with large-scale consequences. It endangers both the financing and sustainability of our social model, leads to unfair competition, the deterioration of social rights and the willingness for solidarity.

CONTRIBUTION TO SCIENCE, SOCIETY AND ECONOMY

IRIS:

- conducts research on social fraud gathering and exchanging strategic and academic information and therefore providing informed expert solutions;
- leading to knowledge which can be applied and implemented in practice and enables to enhance the control methodology;
- sets-up a network of all actors involved in the fight against social fraud;
- organises multidisciplinary seminars, congresses, colloquia.

IRIS holds the SIOD Chair “Reducing social fraud and social dumping”, Social Information and Investigation Service (SIOD), Belgian Federal Public Service, Employment, Labour and Social Dialogue.
